

Look Out World
By Andrew Sullivan - 2011

Look out world, here she comes, she's beautiful
With her pearl earrings and her million dollar hair
Mothers hide your daughters, and fathers hide your sons
Cause with the way she looks she could break the heart of anyone

Look out world, here she comes, she's beautiful
With her perfect complexion and a matching attitude
The girl is such a looker that she looks like don't try
And with the way she moves she's deadly with a glimmer in her eye

Mere mortals don't stand a chance
When she's looking that good in that new dress

Look out world she's got her black dress on When all you fellas get a look you better hold on Cause when that girl starts heading their way
She'll take what she wants, cause knows she looks good today

Look out world, here she comes, she's beautiful and that sunset is jealous of the perfect way she glows
Men can't help but fall for her, the ladies can't but stare
And I'm sure that if she tried she could just fly right through the air

Look out world, here she comes, she's beautiful
And the sky is no limit to wherever she could go
I hope that she'll come near to me, I hope that she will stay
I got a snowball's chance in hell that I won't scare her away
