

To Be Your Drug
By Andrew Sullivan (2014)

Dm
In the depths of the night
F
when the world is long asleep
Bb F
I can't see a thing but I can hear you breathe
Dm
while the darkness tries to fight F
the mighty sun you can't defeat
A Dm
a quiet symphony is played among the sheets

PRECHORUS

Bb C
In the meantime I can't help but think

CHORUS

Bb F
I want my love to be your drug
C F
I want my kisses and my hugs Bb F C
to be the breeze that lifts you higher than the trees
Bb F
I want my love to be your drug
A Dm
and I will sing with all my lungs
Bb C
I want my love, I want my love
Dm
to be your drug

I will hold you even tighter and place a kiss upon your lips and hope that you will find your burdens melt away though I may not be a doctor or qualified enough to say

A Dm
I truly think it would be better if you'd stay
Bb C please stay, stay with me
